2-Coverage clauses and exclusions

Acting on its own behalf or on behalf of the insurance underwriters under which the above-named patient holds valid policy, we authorize the payments of necessary, usual, customary and reasonable expenses for emergency medical treatment related to the above-mentioned diagnosis, on the basis of the agreement previously made between yourselves and our cost containment provider. This authorization is contingent on the patient's eligibility status at the time of service.

Any elective, non-emergency and follow-up treatments as well as any further procedures or consecutive periods of stay for unrelated illnesses, must be pre-authorized and approved by the EA Branch.

Please note that any charges for non-covered expenses such as deductibles, co-insurance and any charges which are not strictly of a medical nature (i.e. telecommunication, visitors stay, and additional equipment like TV or minibar), plus other ancillary costs must be redirected to the above-named patient for payment.

Should it be found that the medical condition for which the patient is currently being treated for is related to a long-standing pre-existing condition, the patient will be held responsible for payment, unless the EA Branch specifically approves the treatment beforehand.

Should there be any false or fraudulent statements, or any withheld material fact related to this Guarantee of Payment, or in case the medical assessment and costs incurred were incomplete or misrepresented, EA Global PPO reserves the right to withdraw the Guarantee of Payment.

This authorization may not be modified, or transferred, nor will we accept invoices from third parties.

Any patient-paid deposit handed both by cash or credit card and used to cover medical expenses must be fully reimbursed to the patient before the patient leaves the medical facility. This guarantee is conditioned to the compliance with this clause.

The cost breakdown must be made known by email to EA Global PPO within three (3) days of the patient's discharge date, which will be subject to careful examination, and discounting where appropriate. All the supporting documents needed for the review must be attached to the cost breakdown, such as the medical report, prescriptions of additional medical tests and medicines, a copy of any written document received from the EA Branch authorizing medical interventions, and a copy of possible invoices settled directly by the patient. Any missing document may delay the procedure.

Bear in mind that all maximum coverages stated include all types of fees and legal taxes.

Thank you,
RUTH I.
